CPP31318 Certificate III in Security Operations

ARMED GUARD CASH IN TRANSIT

SECURE YOUR FUTURE IN THE WORLD'S FASTEST GROWING INDUSTRY

Protecting Assets of Significant value often requires an additional layer of Security. Firearms, batons, handcuffs, and other tools are often deployed to improve an officer's capacity to deter or respond to immediate threats. This qualification prepares students to be licenced to carry and use these tools.

This training is delivered with Victorian and Commonwealth Government Funding.
Eligibility Criteria apply

Who should take this course?

Successful completion of Certificate II in security operations (CPP20218) and a current Victorian Security licence are prerequisites for this qualification. CPP31318 Certificate III in Security Operations with the specialisation in Armed Guard and Cash in Transit will give you the skills required to further your career as an Armed Guard, and or Cash in transit officer.

What will I learn?

This course will provide you with a higher level of skills that will help you build sound management and leadership practices. The units in this course have been selected to prepare students for the typical expectations of major employers. The elective units will provide technical instruction in specialist areas, thus preparing students for specialised employment in cash in transit and armed guard roles.

What is a cash in transit officer?

A person who is employed to collect, transfer and or deliver cash or other valuables whilst being armed with a firearm.

What is an Armed Guard?

A person who is employed or retained to protect, watch or guard any property whilst being armed with a firearm.

Where will it lead?

Types of employment you may be able to gain once licensed:

- Armed Guard, Cash in transit
- Armed Guard at secure locations
- Discrete Armed Security Officer
- Cash Collections and Banking Duties.
- High end Retail Outlets.
